Fort Worth Museum of Science and History to Host Rising Tide Initiative Launch

Discover your place in the future of technology in Fort Worth

Fort Worth, TX – Technology is fueling the tide in today’s world. Where is your place in that ecosystem?

The Rising Tide Initiative’s mission is to enhance the Fort Worth and Tarrant County Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Technology community through the introduction of a vibrant, collaborative technology ecosystem. Become a part of this conversation at the Rising Tide Initiative Launch and Panel Discussion at the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History on Friday, April 28 from 6 – 8 PM.

The Panel Discussion’s focal point is Emerging Technologies: Meeting Our Future and will feature:

- Dr. Julienne Greer – UTA Theater Arts professor working with UTARI in the field of social robotics and performance. She will bring her robot NAO who can, among other things, recite Shakespeare.
- Dr. Doug Roberts – Chief Technology Officer, Fort Worth Museum of Science and History, who will speak to the increasing role of technology in museums.
- Kevin Grace – Rising Tide Initiative. Kevin works with innovative technology companies that include artificial intelligence, cloud computing and software as a service. After founding multiple technology businesses, Kevin is now focused on helping entrepreneurs connect the dots through Catalyst Partners, a local investment firm.

The Rising Tide Initiative Launch and Panel Discussion is a free event open to the public. If you would like to learn more about the future of technology in Fort Worth and how you may play a role in the development of a technological ecosystem, please RSVP here.
